

2011-2012 Student Organizations Committee Membership Application

Like student organizations? Like money? Do you want to help decide where the student fee money goes? Or perhaps you have an idea for how we can do the 2012-2013 allocation process differently? Maybe you just want to bring a fresh new thought to how we interact with L&C's different student organizations and what they do. If this is you then look no further than joining the Student Organizations Committee (SOC) for the 2011-2012 academic year. SOC is in charge of allocating the funds collected from the student fee you pay and allocating it to the L&C's student organizations. SOC also works with Student Activities to make sure that every student organization is officially registered and recognized. SOC also hosts a series of workshops for student organization leaders to foster an enhanced presence for organizations and opportunities for collaboration. On a side note SOC is a great way to have a blast with awesome.

All students are welcome to apply. SOC will be the most successful if we have people who are passionate about student organizations and want to see a positive atmosphere for all student organizations. Finding and having different opinions and interests are welcome because it will help to make the best decisions possible and bring new ideas to the L&C community. There will be scheduled meetings and student organization workshops.

Applications are due on or before Thursday, September 15 by 5PM in the Cabinet office (slide under the door if no one is there) or email them to soc@lclark.edu.
