INSPIRATION. WORKSHOPS. NETWORKING. PITCH COMPETITION.

January 12-17, 2020
Winterim

Winterim is an immersive week of problem-solving and networking where students collaborate to identify problems then formulate and execute innovative solutions. A demonstration of how the liberal arts guides effective action that impacts lives and society, this experience translates beyond college to students’ future pursuits as leaders in the workplace. During Winterim, students learn life skills as well as pitch skills. This year we have over 45 businesses and non-profit leaders volunteering their time to support our next generation of leaders.

Winterim represents the Bates Center’s dynamic experiential programming, complimenting the Center’s academic curriculum, which invites students to explore in more depth trending topics in technology, science, healthcare, marketing, education, and environmental engagement. The Bates Center’s classes, programming, and resources are available to all Lewis & Clark students.

The common thread of all Bates Center experiences is engaging an entrepreneurial mindset to apply the adaptability, critical thinking, and problem solving of liberal arts in new and ambiguous situations. The workplace and marketplace have changed dramatically since Lewis & Clark students were born and will evolve again before they graduate. The Bates Center helps students leverage their liberal arts training to anticipate, navigate and participate in this change.

John and Susan Bates’ generous gift and addition of the word Leadership to the center name reflects the intersection of liberal arts and problem solving. John Bates served as Associate Professor of Finance from 1975 to 1981, earning Outstanding Teacher of the Year in 1976. In 1979, John and Susan lead the overseas study program to Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. A life trustee, John chaired the Lewis & Clark Board of Trustees from 2003 to 2007. John held key positions on Wall Street and founded Bates Private Capital in Lake Oswego, Oregon.
Advisory Board Thank You
The Bates Center for Entrepreneurship and Leadership is thankful for these members’ yearly support of the Center at the $5,000, $10,000+ and greater level. The Advisory Board supports the value of liberal arts and entrepreneurship to create leaders in the for-profit and non-profit workplace.

Kanika Agrawal
Kanika Agrawal is a business consultant with an expertise in industrial IoT and program management. Most recently, her work has involved using sensor analytics to improve energy efficiency and reduce waste in industries such as consumer packaged goods, electronics, and construction. Prior to her foray into consulting, Kanika was a process engineer with Intel’s Technology and Manufacturing Group - a role that piqued her interest in the people impact of advanced innovation and automation.

Kanika holds a Ph.D. in Materials Science & Engineering from the University of Michigan. During her time in Ann Arbor, Kanika co-founded a design & engineering firm focused on creating clean energy solutions inspired by the art of origami. She enjoys leveraging her varied background to uplift the work of other diverse founders and actively mentors with the Portland startup community. Kanika is an avid supporter of Liverpool F.C., so much so that it overrides her avoidance of paying international shipping for club merchandise.

Renee Allums
Lewis & Clark alumna Renee Allums is a self-proclaimed “Manifinesser” - a problem solver powered by her dreams and fueled by naivety, grit and courage. She utilizes connection, ideation and storytelling to execute her goal of creating a world where those who look like her belong.

Immediately after graduating in 2018, Renee wound up on Nike’s Innovation team working covertly to build and pilot innovative concepts for the underserved consumer. In 1979, while John was a professor, John and Susan, with Christopher in tow, led a group of 24 Lewis & Clark students to Benelux for five months to study the emerging European Union. The group still reunites every five or ten years. In his business life John managed a major municipal bond operation on Wall Street and served as a financial consultant in the Middle East. As entrepreneurs John and Christopher founded Bates Private Capital Inc. in 1988. The financial services company grew into an international forensic accounting and expert witness firm with a professional staff of over 200 accountants, lawyers and Wall Street veterans.

Chris Bailey
Chris Bailey is a former professor of finance and investments at Lewis & Clark, a Life Trustee of the College and a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Emma Mcilroy
Emma Mcilroy is a queer-feminist-Irish-immigrant-female-CEO. As founder and CEO of Wildfang, she’s been smashing the patriarchy and gender norms in fashion and beyond since 2013. Much longer if you count dressing as Captain Hook for Career Day in 2nd Grade. It started with the radical belief that a womxn has the right to wear whatever the hell she likes and be whoever the hell she likes. And speaking of rights, in 2018 alone, Wildfang raised over $500k for charities that support reproductive, immigrant, and women’s/human rights. Pre-Wildfang, Emma spent over 12 years honing her marketing skills at two world-class brands in Barclays and Nike. And before THAT, she graduated Summa Cum Laude with a degree in Natural Sciences from Cambridge University. In addition to the many qualifiers above, she is also a Simpsons-loving, whiskey-drinking, sports fanatic, and a mentor to numerous womxn and queer entrepreneurs. Last year, she was named one of Inc.’s Female Founders 100, Oregon Entrepreneur of the Year by OEN, and Executive of the Year by the Portland Business Journal, and her “Yeah Maybe” TED talk garnered over 100k views.

Wildfang is a multi-million dollar omni-channel business with 4 stores in 3 states, and has been featured in the Guardian, the New York Times, Vice, Refinery 29 and Vogue. They’ve also built a fanbase of badass celebs including Janelle Monae, Chvrches, Lizzo, Rachel Evan Wood, and Blondie, to name drop a few. Which is almost as crazy/cool as building a cult brand from the ground up. Let’s call it a tie.

Ben McKinley
Ben founded Cascade Web Development in 2001 following three years leading another web design start-up, Mt. Hood Software. An Oregon native and graduate of Lewis and Clark College ’98, Ben is a 19 year veteran of Portland’s creative and tech industry. Ben’s focus at Cascade includes overseeing company Operations, Web Strategy and Business Development.

In 2010, Ben co-founded a live video platform company, Brandlive, built upon Cascade’s evergreen platform. Brandlive was incubated within Cascade for several years before being spun out in the fall of 2012. At that time, it was accepted into the third class of the Portland Seed Fund. The organization was named the launch stage winner of Angel Oregon 2013 and received funding from Oregon Angel Fund later that year. Brandlive has raised over $4MM in funding and continues to innovate in the fast moving live video space.

Community involvement has been a significant focus for Ben over the years. Ben has served on the board of the Oregon Interscholastic Ski Racing Association, Portland Business Alliance and Greater Portland, Inc. He currently sits on the board of the Street Trust. Ben has coached ski racing for the past 22 years, currently serving the freestyle program at the Multnomah Athletic Club.

Amber Moore
Amber Moore founded Moore Communications nine years ago with the idea that companies didn’t have to use a massive PR agency to get quality work and incredible talent focusing on their business. Today, Moore Communications works with companies across the country from start-ups to public companies. Moore started her career in the agency world working on the Microsoft and SAP businesses for Waggener Edstrom and Edelman before working to-lease at Microsoft and HSBC. Moore is a graduate of the University of Oregon Journalism School and has three children under the age of 11.
Mohan Nair
Mohan is currently Senior VP and Chief Innovation Officer at Cambia Health Solutions. He was recognized in forbes.com as a pioneer in cultural transformation of organizations using innovation as catalyst. The Marketing Leadership Council named him Marketing Executive of Year in 2009.
Prior, Mohan was Chief Marketing Executive and Executive VP for Regence Group leading all front end functions for the nine billion dollar revenue for the health solutions company. He has been in President roles in successful emerging businesses, two of which had successful exits with McAfee and SAS.
His most recent book, Strategic Business Transformation: The 7 Deadly Sins to Overcome, took 12 years of research and introspection. He has authored two other books on measurement. Mohan taught executive courses as adjunct professor of business at Kellogg School of Management for ten years focused on cost and performance management. Mohan has also given a TEDx talk, which outlines his business transformation philosophy.
He has served the United States as a member of the Government’s Committee on Performance and Accountability for the State of Oregon and was called by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services to serve on the AHIC Chronic Care Workgroup.
Many find it surprising that Mohan was a Singapore TV talk show host, a musician with 20 music copyrighted songs to his name and played the bagpipes and the guitar. He is also the first healthcare executive to audition and lose at America's Got Talent.

Skip Newberry
Skip is a frequent speaker on technology trends and topics, economic development, public-private partnerships and civic innovation. Before joining the TAO, Skip served as an economic development policy advisor to Portland Mayor Sam Adams, where he helped create Portland’s first comprehensive economic development strategy in 16 years, recognizing software as a key industry cluster. While at the City of Portland, Skip’s projects included the adoption of the nation’s first open source software procurement policy at the municipal level, an award-winning regional open data initiative and the development of resources to support entrepreneurship, like the Portland Seed Fund.
Previously, Skip was a corporate and IP attorney and entrepreneur. Skip is Chairman Emeritus of the Board of Directors of TECNA, Technology Councils of North America, which is a global network of technology and entrepreneurship associations, and he serves on the community advisory board for Wells Fargo and several community-based organizations in the Portland area. Skip is also a 2012 recipient of the Portland Business Journal’s 40 Under 40 award.
When he’s not working on behalf of the region’s tech industry, Skip enjoys exploring the Pacific Northwest with his family.

Scott Owen
Scott Owen is the Innovation Marketing Manager for Bolt Threads, a bio-materials company based in Emeryville, California. Scott leads projects that push the boundaries on sustainability, revolutionary materials, and disruptive fan engagement. Most recently, this has included bringing a pair of biodegradable glasses made out of 100% synthetic spider silk to the market.
Scott got his start in the Innovation industry while working with the Bates Center. While at Lewis & Clark, Scott was a member of the inaugural LC Entrepreneurial Seed Fund, and was awarded the Johns & Susan Bates Fellowship Award.
In his spare time you can find Scott on a golf course, basketball court, or hiking with his dog.

Dana Plautz
Dana Plautz has spent her career at the convergence of the entertainment industry and technology sector. She spent 10 years in the Hollywood entertainment industry, as Director of Business Development and Emerging Markets at Norman Lear’s Embassy Communications followed by serving as World-Wide Marketing & Licensing Director at Hanna-Barbera Studios. She was recruited by high tech giant, Intel, where she spent 13 years working with game developers and new media artists developing multimedia projects and emerging applications for Intel Research. Having always been an inter-company entrepreneur, in 2008 she decided to become a true entrepreneur and start her own company. She co-founded MrsP.com, an education literacy site for K-4 classrooms, recognized by the American Library Association as a Great Site for Kids. She is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the website along with the marketing, PR, and social media. For her social media presence, @MrsPStoryTime, was recently named one of the Top Educators to follow on Twitter. She also runs the annual Be-a-Famous Writer contest that includes securing sponsors. Dana held a government appointment for six years chairing the Oregon State Film and Video office. She is also an award-winning documentary filmmaker, producer, seasoned speaker, and a charitable advocate. She graduated from Lewis and Clark with a degree in Communications.
Mark Reed
Mark B. Reed is the owner of MJP Management, an operating partner of NW Ventures Group, and a native Oregonian with a long history and experience in developing, constructing and managing residential and commercial properties in the greater Portland area. In addition to managing over 700 residential apartments, Mark has spent the past decade focusing on changing the attitude of the Portland developers and contractors towards modular construction. In 2015, NW Ventures Group was awarded the Earth Advantage LEED builder of the year award for its work in developing Modular Assisted Living Facilities in Oregon and SW Washington, and in 2016 completed Oregon’s first three story modular apartment building in NE Portland. Mark’s current project is another three story modular apartment building that will not only be LEED Platinum, but is a collaboration with the VA and Do Good Multnomah to assist in permanently transitioning homeless veterans into stabilized long term housing. Mark serves as a board member of FCA Urban Core, and enjoys spending time with his wife and four children.

Rick Turoczy
Rick Turoczy (@turoczy) has been working in the Portland startup community for more than 20 years. As founder and editor of Silicon Florist, he has blogged about the Portland startup community for more than a decade — even though numerous people have begged him to stop. That side project led Rick to cofound PIE (the Portland Incubator Experiment), an ongoing experiment exploring the potential for mutually beneficial collaborations between the Portland startup community and more well-established entities like corporations, government, and educational institutions.

Those efforts led him to cofound TechfestNW, a tech event run in collaboration with Willamette Week, which has been dubbed “the next SXSW” by Fortune magazine. Using what he learned at PIE, Rick cofounded Oregon Security Board, an accelerator designed to help digital storytellers like filmmakers, video game creators, and Virtual and Augmented Reality developers build scalable and sustainable business. His latest project is Built Oregon, a nonprofit designed to celebrate, connect, and accelerate all of the amazing consumer product companies throughout Oregon. All because of a blog. Weird.

Paul Vogel
Paul is a Managing Director with Teneto, a global CEO consulting and advisory firm that provides integrated strategic counsel across four operating segments: Management Consulting, Strategy & Communications Advisory, Capital Advisory, and Risk Advisory. Attached to Teneto’s San Francisco office, Paul principally counsels U.S. West Coast, Pacific Northwest, and Canadian clients. He joined Teneto having run his own boutique strategy and campaign communications firm in Portland, Oregon, for several years.

A veteran communicator with deep and varied experience – as a campaign and media strategist, spokesperson, company executive, public opinion researcher and analyst, and marketing executive – Paul has operated across a wide geography from Washington DC, throughout the western U.S. including Alaska, and Canada. While an expansive range across the energy sector is a dominant feature of his career to date, other sectors within which he has worked include industrials, business and economic development, regulatory, legal, civic, and non-profit.

Paul has been a senior executive for two digital marketing, advertising, and public relations agencies and also was Vice President of Communication and Public Affairs at PacifiCorp (Berkshire Hathaway Energy). Early in his career he served as executive director of the Oregon International Port of Coos Bay, and he has staffed or consulted with local, statewide and Congressional leaders and candidates, and managed multiple issue and ballot measure campaigns.

Nicole Vollebregt
Nicole has been with the adidas brand for 21 years, splitting her tenure between the Portland and Herzogenaurach HQ’s. She started as a PR Manager and every few years has taken on a new role - often creating new departments or initiatives. After eight years in Portland Nicole moved to the Germany HQ in 2006 as the Global Head of Public Relations and then to lead the creation of the AdiDassler Fund –adidas’ philanthropic arm. When the company created a new WSDC (Wadstaurant) in 2007 she was tapped to lead the Brand Marketing teams which went on to launch adidas Originals globally. In 2011 she took the helm of the Global Brand Marketing team overseeing both the Style and Sport Performance Divisions. After a brief hiatus to have her daughter she came back to lead a new department called Influencer Marketing which along with the Entertainment and Trend Marketing teams, also created adidas unique Newsroom network. This network was comprised of a team of Social, PR and Analytics specialists across eight global cities. In 2016 she created the first Womans SBP bringing greater focus to the female consumer and building a plan for product, retail and activation to win her. Her latest endeavor is leading a new department called Global Purpose which provides strategic direction, messaging and programs around: Diversity and Inclusion – Internally and Externally; Breaking Barriers for Women and Girls; Athlete, Influencer and Employee Advocacy; Social Impact and Sustainability.

Chrys Hutchings, Associate Director of Bates Center, Adjunct Professor

Chrys Hutchings is a recovering attorney who now uses her advocacy skills to connect entrepreneurs and employers to Lewis & Clark students. As part of her mission to connect the liberal arts to problem solving in the workplace, Chrys engages professionals to speak directly with students about career path, industry trends, entrepreneurship and leadership via Lunch with a Leader, Winterim, workshops, etc. She connects students to resources on and off-campus including venture competitions and networking. Chrys is helping spearhead Lewis & Clark’s Work Study Pilot. Prior to coming to the Bates Center, she worked in the Career Center as the Employer Relations Coordinator, where she executed much of the programming for the Bates Center and resurrected the on-campus Career Fair. She graduated from Smith College and Boston University School of Law, after which she practiced medical malpractice and insurance defense litigation in California. She moved with her family to Portland 15 years ago, is an unapologetic snob about Massachusetts pizza, and enjoys taking advantage of polite Portland drivers.

Catarina Hunter, Associate Director of Operations of Bates Center

Catarina Hunter joined the Bates Center in the fall of 2017 equipped with a toolkit of productivity, technical expertise and systems management from a school programming structure similar to the Bates Center. Her can-do attitude, organizational talent, and business acumen is a perfect fit for the Center. Her skillset and experience enabled her to take on an additional half-time position at Lewis & Clark’s IT department in the fall of 2018. Born in Sweden and fluent in Swedish, German and English, Catarina earned her B.S. in Political Science from Lund’s University in Sweden. She has served on the boards of National Charity League and Riverdale School PTC, and volunteered for Raphael House and Elevate Oregon. Being an owner/manager of several rental properties for the past decade, and starting and running an after-school care business, she has hands-on experience being an entrepreneur. She and her husband, Shawn, have three children in, nearing and gearing for college. In her free time, Catarina runs and is a shoe tester for Nike.

“True self-confidence is “the courage to be open—to welcome change and new ideas regardless of their source. Real self-confidence is not reflected in a title... It is reflected in your mindset: Your readiness to grow.” Carol S. Dweck

“Never what your ability is, effort is what ignites that ability and turns it into accomplishment.” Carol S. Dweck

“Becoming is better than being.” — Carol Dweck

In the words of past Winterim participants:

“I entered Winterim completely unaware of what the week had in store but I walked out of the program more well-rounded, confident, and aware of the realm of entrepreneurship. After going through the program I firmly believe that entrepreneurship and leadership goes hand-in-hand with the liberal arts experiences and the skills that I gained throughout the program have broad applications that I will use in the rest of my life.”

Jackson Richard Thein ’18, Biochemistry & Molecular Biology

“During Winterim, I learned the value of market research and collaboration in creating a sound and deliverable business plan. And the importance of remaining flexible, adaptable and able to bounce back quickly as you might encounter deadends and information gaps but must find a way to keep your business sustainable.”

Christen Comer ’18, Rhetoric and Media Studies

“Winterim taught me how to use entrepreneurship to solve problems. At Lewis & Clark, where many of us are passionate about confronting the issues facing our world, this week imparted incredible skills, connections, and motivation to do accomplish this in the future. I will remember and use my experience from Winterim in whatever I do in my career.”

Kori Groenveld ’18, Environmental Studies

“Participating in Winterim was an experience unlike anything I had done at Lewis & Clark. It was unique in that I was able to learn leadership and teamwork skills by actually collaborating with my peers toward a collective vision. Also, engaging with real-life entrepreneurs was extremely valuable - not only was I able to make lasting and deep connections, but it gave me direct contact with the entrepreneurial world. I was lucky to have had this experience as an undergraduate.”
