

From: Lewis & Clark College Alert com >

Date: Wed, Feb 22, 2023

Urgent LC Alert: Lewis & Clark on-campus activities and classes are curtailed due to snow beginning at 4 p.m. today

Urgent LC Alert: Lewis & Clark on-campus activities and classes are curtailed due to snow beginning at 4 p.m. today.

- College of Arts and Sciences classes and activities beginning at 4 p.m. or later are canceled, unless your faculty member has arranged for a remote meeting.
- Law School and Graduate School classes beginning at 4 p.m. or later will occur remotely, unless faculty notify students that a class is canceled. Faculty will contact students with appropriate remote links. There will not be any in-person, on-campus classes or activities at the Law School or Graduate School beginning at 4 p.m. or later.
- Employees, other than essential personnel, who are working on campus are dismissed for the day at 4 p.m. (or sooner based on individual circumstances). Consult with your supervisor if you have questions.
- Food service is expected to be available in Fields Dining Room and the Trail Room until 8 p.m. Students are encouraged to eat early.
- The Pio Express is planning to end operations for the day at 8 p.m. Check Twitter for the latest schedule information.

Based on the current weather forecast, it is possible that college operations will continue to be curtailed tomorrow morning. We will notify you as soon as any decisions are made.

As a reminder, our policy regarding school closures and curtailments can be found here: <https://www.lclark.edu/live/profiles/3671-school-closure-policy>.